

CHESAPEAKE WEAVERS

A collective of fiber artists dedicated to exploring and sharing all aspects of handweaving

Learning & Sharing

Meetings provide an opportunity for members to share accomplishments, inspiration, knowledge and fiber resources. In addition to educational programs presented by member volunteers, the guild strives to bring in at least one outside speaker each year.

A monthly study group for those who are interested meets the 4th Thursday of the month from 10 am to 12 pm at members' homes.

Field Trips

Each year the guild organizes a day trip to visit a gallery, exhibition or studio for the purpose of inspiration and education.

Outreach

Members are encouraged to promote handweaving by educating the public, nurturing new weavers, or as a means of providing therapeutic activity.

Meetings

Meetings are held the morning of the 3rd Tuesday of each month, September through June, beginning with hospitality at 9:30 am followed by a program, business meeting, show and tell and lunch. Meeting locations are in the greater Annapolis area and are held in the homes of members, hosted on a rotating basis. Annual dues are $15.

Our History

The history of the Chesapeake Weavers spans more than 30 years. The organization was formed by interested handweavers under the auspices of the Anne Arundel County Extension Office. Phyllis Hole Bryant, county extension agent, organized the group with a constitution and by-laws as a special interest program. Since that time, the group has been a self-sustaining guild. The guild is a forum for discussion, promotion, exhibition, collection, appreciation, as well as dispensing expertise in weaving. The guild welcomes new members and interested visitors. Those participating in our programs benefit by learning all facets of weaving.
